

THE KITCHENAID ARTISAN MAXIMUM EXTRACTION JUICER

For maximum yield and gentle juicing

HAMBURG, FEBRUARY 2015. The new KitchenAid Artisan Maximum Extraction Juicer is ideally suited for preparing fruit and vegetable juices that are high in nutrients. This is made possible by the unique and powerful auger assembly, which slowly crushes all ingredients, extracting all the juice down to the last drop. An additional benefit of this new product is the optimised juicing speed: thanks to the low 80 rpm rotation speed the juice temperature does not rise and no large amounts of oxygen are introduced causing foam to form. This way, the delicate enzymes of the produce are retained. In addition, it is even possible to juice grass and wild herbs. The practical reverse function removes any food that may have become blocked during extraction. From start to finish, using the maximum extraction juicer is a very enjoyable experience.

Soft foods like pineapple or grapes, hard foods like carrots or beetroot, leafy vegetables and herbs full of chlorophyll – the Artisan Maximum Extraction Juicer processes a wide range of produce effortlessly. A blade integrated into the auger assembly pre-slices foods before squeezing. The 2-in-1 food tube with hopper makes processing easy. This premium kitchen tool means maximum taste with minimum prep time.

Use one of three pulp screens when processing to control the amount of pulp. The maximum extraction juicer not only prepares fruit, vegetable or herb juices, but is ideal for making coulis, purées, mashes, sauces or jams. This new addition to the Artisan series is the ideal helper for health-conscious foodies.

The innovative juicer offers functionality and smart technology and the stylish KitchenAid design will enhance the look of your kitchen. Highest quality and optimum ease of operation make the KitchenAid Artisan Maximum Extraction Juicer an essential tool for all foodies and raw food lovers.
